The Rawls family of Washington, North Carolina has owned and operated WIMCO since its inception in 1972. Their practical and functional building philosophy has grown the WIMCO concept into a multiple-award-winning company capable of meeting any commercial or industrial construction requirement.

The modern day WIMCO has its roots in a family-owned business involving crane service, steel erection, pile driving and metal building construction. In the 1950's, Washington Iron and Metal Company marked the beginning of what is now WIMCO. In 1972, the business grew to become a general construction firm.

Today, WIMCO uses its strong foundation to support its innovation and expansion. WIMCO has built a reputation as an industry leader in the utilization of computer technology and has been recognized in IBM's professional trade magazine for its exemplary use of construction software. WIMCO's growth is evidenced by being licensed and working in North and South Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Delaware. WIMCO has also grown to include renovation and design to its already impressive array of construction services. More than 1500 projects have been completed over WIMCO's long history.

WIMCO and its owners, Artie, Jeryl, and Kevin Rawls, recognize that their reputation for quality construction done on a timely basis has been built by years of doing things right. They intend to protect that reputation by continuing to build excellent industrial and public buildings, and providing a full spectrum of services for public and private WIMCO is able to accommodate any size project. However, our main concern is not the scale of the project. Our personnel feel WIMCO's ultimate strength and success is linked to our acute attention to detail. In our opinion this is the difference between an adequate building and an excellent building. WIMCO seeks to create excellent structures. We bring the same level of dedication and professionalism to all projects.

Integrity, Quality, and Craftsmanship are the hallmarks of WIMCO. A licensed general contractor in six states, WIMCO has built its impeccable reputation by putting the client's demands and needs first for over half a century.

Teamwork is a cornerstone of the WIMCO identity. We stress an interactive and collaborative effort between our different divisions. The result is a culmination of efforts by many experts. The attributes of these efforts are cost-savings to our customers, speed in construction, and most importantly, quality workmanship.

Practicality and functionality are concepts that drive all WIMCO actions. Our decades of experience have led to an accumulation of knowledge and judgment which pays rich dividends for our customers. We like to think of our structures as living entities that breathe and flex with the people that work within them. By gaining customer input throughout the building process we weave function into the total design.

WIMCO is proud of its design capabilities. Whether contemporary or traditional, our staff tailors the correct blend of aesthetics to accommodate the exact needs of the business or industry. You are assured of uncompromising standards as we strive to provide the best possible combination of quality and value.
